

Jan. 21-30, 1998: Nathaniel Speights appears; OIC intervenes; Judge Wright excludes evidence about Ms. Lewinsky; another "other woman" testifies; discovery ends

On Wednesday, January 21, 1998, Nate Speights entered his appearance as counsel for Monica Lewinsky, and requested that Mr. Carter withdraw as counsel.²⁶⁴

The next day, Thursday, January 22, 1998, Ms. Jones's attorneys served an opposition to Ms. Lewinsky's motion for a protective order.²⁶⁵ Ms. Jones's counsel argued that "[t]he parties and the various Jane Does have briefed extensively the law governing discovery of 'other women' in this case and Plaintiff will not burden the record by repeating that briefing."²⁶⁶ Ms. Jones's counsel asserted that "Plaintiff believes that many statements in [Monica Lewinsky]'s affidavit are not true and that Mr. Clinton or those acting on his behalf encouraged her to lie. Plaintiff is entitled to discovery to pursue these theories, including the deposition of [Monica Lewinsky]."²⁶⁷
